

BYNUM TELLS 'EM WHY HE BACKSLID

A STRONG SPEECH FOR THE GOLD STANDARD.

Address to Sound Money Democrats in Peoria on the Importance of Maintaining an Honest Currency—General Palmer Said to Be Talking Too Much.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 22.—The gold democrats of Peoria county held a mass convention Friday evening in Rouse's hall. The only address of the evening was delivered by Congressman Bynum of Indiana.

Previous to the commencement of the meeting free-silver men of Peoria had distributed circulars at the hall doors giving Mr. Bynum's record on the free-silver question. Mr. Bynum said he was for free silver once, but he had changed his mind, as every man had a perfect right to do. He reviewed the rise and fall of silver and held that depreciation was the result of the overproduction. He predicted that financial ruin and depression would follow the passage of a free-coinage act. He held that the stability of the government was due to its credit, which would be destroyed by free coinage. The passage of an act of this kind would result in the closing of every bank in the United States from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He denied that the bankers or the workingmen would be benefited by the passage of the free-coinage act, and doubted whether the bankers themselves would be.

The committee on platform then reported, declaring in favor of the present monetary system and against free and unlimited coinage of silver. The Chicago platform was repudiated and the meeting declared in favor of sending delegates to Chicago next week.

WISH PALMER TO KEEP QUIET.

Gold Democrats Annoyed Over a Remark Attributed to the Senator.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 22.—The men in charge of the organization of the national democratic (gold) party are annoyed by the statement credited to Senator John M. Palmer, the chairman of the national committee of the party, that the coming national convention will make a platform, but will refrain from nominating candidates.

Chairman Bynum of the executive committee authorized the statement before he started to Peoria, Ill., that any man who says the convention will not put up a ticket does not know what he is talking about. The Illinois gold leaders will be asked to suggest to Senator Palmer that he be more guarded in his conversation.

An effort will be made at the coming convention to take the national headquarters to Chicago. The matter will rest with the new national committee, which will be announced at the convention. The commercial bodies of this city would like to see the headquarters removed here, and all that can be done to convince the managers of the party that Indianapolis is the proper city from which to direct the national campaign will be done.

BLAND ON THE STUMP.

Missouri Statesman Makes a Plea for Bryan and Silver.

Laurel, Md., Aug. 22.—The democratic national campaign in this state was opened in this city, the home of Senator Gorman, Friday night, ex-Congressman Bland of Missouri being the principal attraction. Mr. Bland was received with great enthusiasm by the large crowd present, and his speech, which was mainly devoted to replying to arguments against the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, was loudly and frequently applauded.

Defends Gov. Altgeld.

Ottumwa, Ia., Aug. 22.—Secretary Charles Walsh of the national democratic central committee denies the story that Gov. Altgeld fought Boies because the latter would not agree to make the Illinois governor his attorney-general in case of nomination and election. Secretary Walsh declares that there is no foundation for the story, as Gov. Boies was not called to Chicago to see Altgeld, but made the journey just prior to the Chicago convention at the request of southern delegates who were his admirers.

Illinois Gold Men Hopeful.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—It was announced by Chairman John P. Hopkins of the committee on organization yesterday that every county in Illinois would be represented at the anti-silver democratic state convention, which will be called to order at noon next Tuesday. The full ticket will be named at the convention.

Blackburn to Take the Field.

Versailles, Ky., Aug. 22.—Senator J. C. S. Blackburn, who is now with his family at Ocean City, N. J., where they have been spending the summer, will return Sept. 1 and immediately thereafter will take the stump in support of Bryan and Silver. It is said Senator Blackburn is willing to make speeches until the close of the campaign, and will go wherever he is assigned, leaving the assignment of speeches entirely to the campaign committee.

Fusion Succeeds in Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 22.—The democrats and populists have concluded fusion. Frank Steunberger has been nominated for governor. The democrats have agreed to pass a resolution giving the populists a majority of the members of the legislature. This makes a straight senatorial fight between Senator Dubois and Clagett, the candidate of the populists.

Presidential Boom for Ingalls.

Cincinnati, Aug. 22.—It is announced that there is a movement to press M. E. Ingalls, president of the Big Four and Chesapeake and Ohio railways, for the nomination of the sound money democratic party for president. The Ohio delegation in Indianapolis is expected to favor him.

BOND ISSUE TALK REVIVED.

Result of a Visit of Secretary Carlisle to New York City.

New York, Aug. 22.—The presence of Secretary Carlisle and a conference he had with Mr. Bacon of J. P. Morgan & Co. caused some talk about the possibility of another bond issue. Mr. Carlisle called at the subtreasury early Friday and saw Mr. Muhleman, who, in Mr. Jordan's absence, is acting as assistant treasurer. Then he went down to the custom-house. In the afternoon he called again at the subtreasury, and was in consultation for some time with Mr. Bacon and Mr. Muhleman.

After Mr. Carlisle left the subtreasury Mr. Muhleman said that the secretary had merely called in there on his way to Washington, and that his visit had no special significance; that he had not discussed anything or said anything that was a matter for public interest.

BASEBALL REPORT.

Games Played in the National League Yesterday.

Baltimore welcomed the Browns in a shut-out game and again forged to the front of the league race. The Reds could not win always from Seeley's nine and took a fall. One game separates the eastern and western claimants for the flag, and Cincinnati is doing well enough away from home to keep the villagers down on Mill creek expecting still greater things. Cleveland did not find Mercer, and lost to the Senators, and Brooklyn could not make her hits count for runs and tied with Pittsburgh when the sun went down. Yesterday's scores:

WOLWORTH IS CHOSEN.

Omaha Lawyer President of the Bar Association.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The American Bar association elected the following officers Friday: President, John M. Wolworth, Omaha; secretary, John Hinkley, Baltimore; treasurer, Francis Rawle, Philadelphia; executive committee, Alfred Hemenway, Boston; Charles Claflin Allen, St. Louis; William W. Howe, New Orleans. A vice president for every state in the union and a local council for each state were also chosen.

The following resolution, offered by E. F. Bullard of New York was adopted: "Resolved, That it be referred to the committee on jurisprudence and law reform, the question whether the law in regard to fellow-servants should not be so amended as further to protect laboring men from the result of negligence caused by persons unknown by them and over whom they have no control."

Saratoga, Denver and Indianapolis extended invitations to the association to meet at the respective places in 1897, but the selection of a place was left to the executive committee. This completed the work of the association.

Kansas Bank Is Robbed.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 22.—An unknown thief entered the branch of the American national bank in Kansas City, Kas., during the momentary absence of the cashier Friday morning, and prying open a desk, secured $1,000 in currency or more and made his escape. Two hundred dollars in silver was untouched. The robbery was apparently committed by some one familiar with the premises. The bank is situated in a busy portion of the place, making the robbery more daring.

Old Grudge Led to Murder.

Oaktown, Ind., Aug. 22.—Daniel Wolfe shot and instantly killed Claude Kable on the street here Friday evening. An old grudge had existed between them for some time. Wolfe has the reputation of being drunken and quarrelsome, and the feeling against him is very bitter. Kable was 18, and the son of B. F. Kable, one of the leading farmers of this community. He was very popular. Wolfe was immediately arrested and taken to Vincennes to jail.

THE TRADE REVIEW HAS A BETTER LOOK

EXPORTS OF MERCHANDISE WELL MAINTAINED.

Corn Prices Still Low—Dun's Review Thinks It Should Be Put Into Hogs—Dullness Continues in Iron and Steel—Effect of Political Agitation Apparent.

New York, Aug. 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "Political events of the week had no definite influence upon business prospects, for the phenomenal variations in sterling exchange and the beginning of imports of gold may be fairly attributed to the accumulating excess of merchandise exports over imports, to which attention has been repeatedly called."

"Exports from New York for the past two weeks have been 20 per cent larger and imports here 21 per cent smaller than last year. The rapid movement of grain and the unusually early marketing of cotton tend strongly to aid the banking syndicate which has undertaken to regulate foreign exchange."

"Speculation has advanced wheat over 1 cent during the week, corn a small fraction, and cotton ½ of a cent, the principal motive power being reports of injury to growing crops. As before, the unfavorable accounts respecting wheat are in some measure discredited by the continued movement from the farms."

"Western receipts have been 10,697,137 in the two weeks, against 6,759,363 bushels last year. With prices 8 cents lower than last year, such a movement cannot be interpreted as a sign of deficient yield."

"The Atlantic exports for the same weeks have been, flour included, 4,892,660 bushels, against 2,995,233 last year, and while the increase is encouraging, it scarcely corresponds with current accounts of deficient yield in some foreign countries."

"The movement of corn continued heavy, although the price is still so low that one wonders why the product is put into cars instead of into hogs."

"The alarm about the destruction of cotton has been most vigorously worked here and abroad, and has readily raised the price, although it is yet to be seen whether the yield has been so far diminished as to warrant a price nearly 1 cent higher than a year ago."

"Some additional heavy failures in the lumber trade call attention to the continuing depression, which appears to result, at least in part, from expectations entertained by many that the unlimited increase in new buildings during the past year or two would be permanent."

"The iron and steel manufacture is the only continued depression to report, and Bessemer pig has sold at $10.40 at Pittsburgh, while Southern iron is offered at prices equivalent to $10 at New York, and nearly all finished products are being sold below the current quotations."

There is rapid curtailment of production, the Illinois Steel company having only seven of its seventeen furnaces at work, but in spite of this the supply of finished products appears to greatly exceed the demand for them."

"The one bright spot is the sale of 9,000 tons of steel rails to Japan, for refitting railways in that country, which makes an aggregate of 45,000 tons exported during the year."

"Nothing encouraging can be said regarding the woolen manufacture, and the demand for goods, even at recent reductions in prices, is still disappointingly small. Sales of wool at the three chief markets have been only 7,670,000 pounds in three weeks, against 16,847,200 last year, and 23,361,400 in the same weeks of 1892."

"A heavy auction sale of cotton goods brought prices which were considered quite encouraging, and the current demand is fairly maintained, although the mills are not inclined to make large contracts for the future in view of the rise in raw material. In general, the work in view for the textile branches does not appear to have increased."

MILE IN 2:03.

Joe Patchen's New Record Made at Portland Friday.

Portland, Me., Aug. 22.—Joe Patchen is the king of pacing stallions. Friday afternoon at Rigby park he went a mile in 2:03, finishing against a strong wind. When the quarter was reached the watch hands had clicked off 30½ seconds. Going up the back side the black fellow responded nicely to his driver's call, and covered the second quarter in 23½, making it just one even minute. Patchen kept up his wonderful speed and was at the three-quarter pole in 1:30¼. The game horse never faltered when he struck the stiff breeze at the head of the stretch. At the seven-eighths pole the wind and clip began to tell, yet the stout-hearted fellow tried all the harder, and finished the mile in 2:03.

Sturgis, S. D., Aug. 22.—Ray Sewell, who for the past month has been confined in the Meade county jail in this city on the charge of cattle rustling, made a desperate effort to escape yesterday and was killed in an encounter with Fred Willard, a butcher. Sewell, seeing an opportunity, bolted from the jail, and running into Willard's shop got possession of a rifle. He had been closely followed by the sheriff and deputy. Willard in the meantime had secured a rifle and appeared upon the scene. While Sewell was talking to the officers Willard called upon him to hold up his hands. Instead of complying, Sewell turned his rifle upon Willard. Both men shot simultaneously, Sewell's bullet grazing Willard's hair, but Willard's bullet cut Sewell's jugular vein and shattered his spinal column, causing instant death.

TO TRY PROTECTION.

Chile Will Endeavor to Encourage Industries at Home.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Chile is contemplating a revision of her tariff laws, which, when effected, will have an important bearing on a number of American products, principally cotton, which Chile will place on the free list, with the hope that the introduction of the raw product from the United States will encourage the manufacture of the finished product in Chile.

The minister of finance has drawn the bill and has submitted it to both houses, although the elections promise to delay its adoption. The present normal rate of duty is 25 per cent ad valorem. This will be retained as the standard, but a number of new schedules are created. One of these is at 60 per cent ad valorem and is an application of the principle of high protection. Included in this list are articles of house furniture, wooden doors and windows, coaches, carts, wheelbarrows, hams, brooms, tool-handles and a number of other things which the United States does not ship to Chile. The articles mentioned are exported from this country in considerable quantities, the item of carriages and cars reaching a half million annually. Agricultural implements, which are shipped in large quantities, are taken out of the free list and taxed at 15 per cent ad valorem; also tools, iron bars, rakes, hoes, etc. A number of articles, principally for domestic use, are raised from 25 to 35 ad valorem. Besides cotton to be transferred to the free list are cotton yarns, chemicals of various kinds, jute, linen, wheels and axles, zinc sheets, gloves, etc.

WILL BE FED IN THE FACTORY.

Plans of the Tin Plate Company at Elwood, Ind.

Elwood, Ind., Aug. 22.—That the American Tin Plate company will start with non-union men and no settlement is to be effected was conclusively confirmed when it developed that they had arranged to have the men who were to take the places of the strikers sleep in the factory, and when once inside the grounds will not leave until the strike is ended. A refrigerator car of provisions has been taken there, and there is no longer the least doubt that the plant will be started, and that the strike has only just begun, as the Amalgamated Association, backed by the Federation of Labor, will endeavor to make it impossible for the company to operate with non-union men, and there is no telling where it will end.

General Bragg declares that Bouck is a "physical coward," and that his declarations that he will be a candidate are mere wind and moonshine. General Bragg says that it is not the silver question that has made Bouck and himself at odds with each other, but rather Bouck's insulting manners. Bouck may, it is thought, challenge Bragg to fight a duel. They live within twenty miles of each other.

MADE THEIR SAY SO STAND FOR MONEY

PARABLE OF THE FOOLISH CORN GROWERS.

They Made a Law That Corn and Wheat Should Be of the Same Value. But the Rest of the World Could's See It That Way, and Flooded the Market.

It was near the close of the nineteenth century—everywhere there was great depression. Railroads could not pay dividends, values were shrunken, money was idle, labor unemployed. The well-to-do could not make profits, the poor could not pay their debts, and everybody was gloomy and sad. Each man as he met his neighbor would solemnly say in the language of the Hon. James Fadden, "what tell," and moodily pass on.

Then there arose the Wise Men of Kansas. They were mighty in their day; with honeyed words they beguiled the people. They painted in colors of night the oppression of labor and the suffering of poverty. They pictured in hues that paled the morning's rosy glow, the delights of luxury and the blessings of wealth.

Frenzied by the intoxicating dream they exclaimed, "Wherefore are we not all rich? Go to now! Let us abolish poverty. Let us legislate ourselves into affluence." And the people heard and were smitten with the delicious madness.

Then the governor assembled the wise men in special session and thus addressed them: "Most noble, brave and mighty yeoman, our people groan. The burden is heavy upon them. Early and late they toil and eat the bread of disappointment and bitterness. Make ye laws for their deliverance."

"We are the greatest state in the union. We are big enough and rich enough to have a policy of our own regardless of what other states may do or may not do. Let us be patriotic. A Kansas policy for Kansas is the need of the hour. Wheat is hard to raise and the yield is light and uncertain; but we are great on corn. The notion that the price must be governed by the law of supply and demand is a superstition by means of which the rich plunder and oppress honest toil. Make ye therefore a law in accordance with which sovereign and august statute corn shall be put upon a par with wheat. They shall be interchangeable bushel for bushel, and the price of corn shall be the same as the price of wheat. Do this, and the people of Kansas shall rise up and call you blessed, and all the world except the money-lenders shall hail you as the emancipators of mankind."

The wise men passed the law as the governor had advised and all the people of the state rejoiced, for their cribs were full of corn. They could hardly contain themselves till the governor had signed the bill which raised the price of Kansas corn from fifteen cents to forty-five cents a bushel. All the people now felt rich. They bought many luxuries and the most of them went in debt. They wondered that they had never before found out that wealth was simply a matter of legislation, and they felt a great pity and contempt for the ignorant and superstitious people of the other states. Then the farmers from the other states began hauling their corn to Kansas. Long lines of wagons came winding along every road. Boats floated it down the rivers, and railroads rushed it in from every section of the country. It seemed as if the country was all corn and it was all headed for Kansas. The people of Kansas took their medicine, that is, they took the corn and gave up their wheat.

The farmers from the other states thought the Kansas people were queer, but they kept bringing them their corn. Corn came in and wheat went out. And besides, all the Kansas people had gone to raising corn, because it was more easily produced than wheat and was to bring just as much in the market as wheat, for the wise men had decreed that it should. It was not long till Kansas had all its own and nearly all of its neighbors' corn.

When the other states saw this vast accumulation and knew that it must sooner or later come onto the market, the price of corn began to decline till it could be purchased anywhere except in Kansas, for ten cents a bushel. In Kansas the price was still forty-five cents, which was the price of wheat, but there were no buyers. Neither would anyone exchange wheat for their corn. When the autumn came the Kansas people did not have any wheat for seed. Then they sent to the neighboring states and implored the farmers to exchange wheat at a parity with corn. But the farmers said: "We will exchange one bushel of wheat for four and one-half bushels of corn." "Our law," replied the Kansas people, "puts corn and wheat at a parity. They are equal, for our wise men said they should be." And the farmers replied, "Your wise men are asses; let them eat your corn." So the Kansans went back home, and all their people were in despair.

The more corn they had the less it was worth, and they had nothing but corn. Day by day the times grew harder.

Then the governor again assembled the wise men and said to them: "Most consummate, picturesque and glittering goll-daraed fools. There is but one bigger fool than yourselves. It is he who now addresses you."

"We thought we could bluff the everlasting law of supply and demand with our statute. We thought we could legislate value into a thing and make our people rich by a law. We thought we were patriotic. We were idiotic. Let us honestly acknowledge our asininity, repeal our fool law, get back into line with the other states and imagine no more that we are wiser than the whole world. Do this, and may we live long enough to know that the other states have ceased laughing at our folly and our own state has ceased cursing us for it."

Then the wise men repealed the law, but it was not many years before the people recovered from the effects of the corn craze.

Moral: We are a big nation, but we are not the whole earth. Another moral: Legislature can neither make nor unmake values. Still Another: A fool is a man who thinks all the rest of the world are fools. One More: We cannot lift ourselves up by our own boot straps.

SAGE GROWING IN ROCK COUNTY

First Cutting of the 1896 Crop Is Now Ready For Market.

Sage growing has for some years been followed by a few farmers in Rock county. The first cutting is now ready for market and is sold this season at much better prices than heretofore for some time, bringing fifteen cents per pound. From 600 to 800 pounds is a fine yield of cured sage per acre. Aside from the gathering and curing there is but little work attending its culture—less than the average farm crop, so that the results generally prove very satisfactory. It is a crop, however, that can be easily over produced.

WATCHING THE BASE BALL WAR

Match Games in Janesville Have Interest for Delavan People.

The Sharon base ball club are red hot at the Edgerton club because the latter failed to keep their engagement to play last week Monday. As a result the Sharons have issued a pretty peppery challenge to the Edgertons to play them at Janesville, three games, for $500 and the gate receipts. The Sharon boys are playing great ball this season, and it is hoped that they will make the present outfit of hats answer their purpose until the season closes.—Delavan Enterprise.

BICYCLERS A PREY FOR THE FOOT PAD

JAMES CAMPBELL FINDS WAL- WORTH UNSAFE.

Hot Weather Makes the Wool Drop Off Sheep—A Small Boy's Luncheon of Rat Poison Nearly Proves Fatal—Caucus Packers in the Churches.

Highwaymen are turning their attention to wheelmen in Walworth county. James Campbell was riding home from East Delavan late at night and overtook two suspicious looking men whom he undertook to ride past. One of them seized his wheel as he came near to them, throwing him headlong to the ground and then commenced to kick and beat him. Realizing their character, he offered to surrender what money he had, which he gave up willingly and was then permitted to resume his journey home. His loss was about a dollar.

It is a queer phase of human nature that will permit a man to denounce "packed" caucuses and snap conventions but participate, actively, in "packing" a church meeting in the interests of a certain candidate. Such cases are not rare, even in Elkhorn, as more church meetings have been "packed" during the last year than the caucuses and conventions in five years.

Joe Duffy, a little Whitewater boy, ate some pieces of bread that had been covered with sugar and strychnia, and left around the house to poison rats. His mother noticed that something was wrong with him, and hurried him down to a doctor's office, not, however, before his muscles had become rigid, and spasms about setting in. The doctor quickly injected apomorphia hypodermically, and with the best of results.

DOMESTIC MARTYRS.

Lots of women suffer constantly, and seldom utter complaint.

Good men rarely know the pain endured by the women of their own household, or the efforts they make to appear cheerful and happy when they ought to be in bed, their suffering is really so great.

Our habits of life and dress tell sadly upon women's delicate organizations.

They ought to be told just where the danger lies, for their whole future may depend upon that knowledge, and how to overcome it.

There is no need of our describing the experiences of such women here, they are too well known by those who have suffered, but we will impress upon every one that these are the never-failing symptoms of serious womb trouble, and unless relieved at once, a life will be forfeited.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound never fails to relieve the distressing troubles above referred to; it has held the faith of the women of America for twenty years.

It gives tone to the womb, strengthens the muscles, banishes backache and relieves all pains incident to women's diseases.

WAGON-BOX ORATORY.

The wagon-box campaigner who has been in the city for two days, reveals the animus of the free silver movement when he pleads for the down-trodden mine owner. The down-trodden mine owner isn't a man Wisconsin people care much about. They don't know why the government should buy all the silver that he mines, any more than it should buy all the barley that they raise. They know that silver has fallen in price, but they do not see what the government has to do with it. Steel has fallen in price, they remember, and fallen for reasons that seem very much the same. Twenty years ago it cost four times as much to smelt silver ore as it does today, and the cost of transporting the ore was on the average five times as great. It is part of the evidence before the British gold and silver commission of 1887 that when silver was still selling at $1 an ounce it could be produced for a little over 40 cents from the dry ore. For years the price of silver, was by the artificial demand created for it by the legislation of the United States, prevented from gravitating, like other commodities, to its natural level. Such assistance could not be effective forever and when the world's production of silver between 1885 and 1892 rose from 91,000,000 to 151,000,000 ounces—an increase of sixty-six per cent.—prices could not fail to show the effect. It is fifty-three years since a clear-sighted Frenchman announced the fact in a book about the production of the precious metals in Mexico that the time would come when the production of silver would have no limits, other than those imposed on it by the constantly increasing decline in its value. It would seem to be time that even the wagon-box orator recognizes this fact.

HOW THE WORKINGMEN VIEWS IT

It hasn't taken workingmen long to see that they would be more seriously affected by the free coinage of silver than any other class of citizens. Political economy is to them entirely a matter of wages and cost of living. It begins and ends, so far as they are concerned, with what they can get for their labor and how much the money thus obtained will buy. They are told by Mr. Bryan and other popular orators that a change from the gold basis to the silver basis would certainly cause a considerable rise in the prices of all commodities. This means, of course, that they would have to pay more for everything that they eat and wear. Such a result would surely be a severe misfortune to them without some compensating and superior advantage in another direction; and from whence could they expect that advantage? They would have no place to look for it outside of their wages. If they could not get a sufficient increase of pay to cover the increased cost of living, they would be losers, unquestionably. Any man with sense enough to wind a clock can see that; and the whole issue accordingly turns, for the workingman, upon the possibility of a general advance in wages equal to the reduced purchasing power of the currency, and the fact that wages are the last things to advance in any contingency robs this possibility of all its allurement.

David B. Hill's silence and William J. Bryan's eloquence are about equally potent against the democratic ticket in New York state this year.

Secretary Hoke Smith still has the distinction of being the only one in Cleveland's cabinet who agrees to vote the democratic ticket.

Republicans are right in giving more attention to free silver than to free trade. Free trade has been disposed of for a long time.

Why should Bryan want to deny that he is in the pay of the mine-owners? He ought to have some excuse for his conduct.

Bryan's out door meetings in New York are not successful. There is no way of locking the audience in.

"Really?" responded Miss Cayenne, with languid interest.

"Yes, I shall never be a man of one idea."

MAX PFENNIG OUT OF THE DEMOCRACY

WELL KNOWN GERMAN SICK OF FREE TRADE.

Financial Heresies Proposed, by the Chicago, Convention Capped the Climax, and He Declares He Will Have No More To Do with the Democratic Party.

A democrat ever since he came to America and a potent influence among Rock county Germans, Max Pfennig has turned his back on democracy for all time.

Headed the Janesville Republican League club last night and the meeting that had been arranged as a mere formality became a love feast.

Short but stirring expressions of confidence were given, but Mr. Pfennig's speech was the feature of the evening.

The meeting was called to order by Secretary W. A. Jackson, of the republican county committee. Section by section a constitution was adopted, providing that membership was open to all who were in favor of the election of McKinley and Hobart.

William G. Wheeler was elected president and accepted the honor with a brief but telling speech. Other officers named were:

Vice Presidents—First ward, J. A. Deniston; Second ward, Max Pfennig; Third ward, John Cullen; Fourth ward, Herman Lempeke; Fifth ward, Orville Morse.

Secretary—S. M. Smith. Assistant Secretaries—A. E. Matheison and E. M. Hardy.

Treasurer—A. G. Anderson.

Executive Committee—B. F. Dunwiddie, W. A. Jackson, S. C. Burnham, C. H. Kueck, S. B. Phelps, W. E. Clinton, J. F. Pember, H. Galke, F. M. Goodwin and E. O. Kimberley.

The nomination of Max Pfennig by O. F. Nowlan for vice president was greeted by cheers and Mr. Pfennig was called to his feet.

Mr. Pfennig remarked smilingly that he had never figured in a republican meeting before. He had been a democrat ever since coming from Germany and had worked for the party with all his might, as long as he could do so honestly.

"The course of the democratic party in the last four years caused me to hesitate," he said, "and the action of the Chicago convention cleared my vision completely. I feel that the only recourse is to put in power a party strong enough and honest enough to protect the interests of the people. [Cheers.]

"It is important that the country be given a carefully drawn protective tariff, and it is vitally important that the money of the country be honest.

"I am not a man to change my party often, but I have good reason for changing in this case. I am for the republican party and will do all I can to elect Mr. McKinley." [Applause.]

John Carpenter, F. W. Willey, E. M. Hardy, F. L. Stevens and E. O. Kimberley were named as delegates to Milwaukee. A. A. Jackson, O. F. Nowlan and F. S. Sheldon were empowered to draft by-laws.

The club adjourned to meet again on the first Friday in September.

CAN'T KEEP DEBTORS ON SUCH A LIST

CREDITORS' ASSOCIATION UNDER THE BAN.

Forty Janesville Business Men Interested in the Decision of the Postmaster General—Reasons Why the Association Came Into Disfavor—New Plans in Favor.

The Creditors Benefit Association, of which for y Janesville business men are members, is under the ban of the courts. The association was organized by Ford Rowe, in Rockford, and Mr. Rowe spent several months here installing the Janesville branch. As long as he conducted it the government found no irregularity. Some time ago there was a change in management, however, and since then, debtors have been pursued in ways that the post office department does not endorse. A decision by the postmaster general barring the association from the use of the mails is the outcome.

Janesville merchants were taxed ten dollars apiece for membership, and received reports showing all Janesville dead-beats. The reports being in book form, however, a delinquent's name remained on the list after he had paid his bill. This is said to have been one of the counts against the concern. Several newly organized protective associations guard against this defect by issuing no list, confining their efforts to collections. Unpaid book accounts are advertised for sale through local papers, the publicity being relied upon to bring debtors to time.

THE pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Constipation stops digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping. We are especially strong in qualities selling at 10c, 12 1-2c, 15c, 20c and 25c. There is one noticeable feature about the new Embroideries. The very OPEN EDGES that have been prevailing for the past two seasons are gradually disappearing and giving place to firmer edges. The open work may appear but it will be up higher on the muslin and the edges themselves are firm and strong. The ladies at a glance will see the advantage of this new edge in both wear and laundry work. It will wear better and will not show the frayed edges after it is laundered. The open work that appears on muslin above the firm edges is known as EYELET WORK and is the latest.

LOCAL RACING MEN ARE SUSPENDED

JANESVILLE BICYCLE RIDERS ARE "GIDEONIZED."

Dr. Mills, Alderman McKee, William Mason and Hiram Murdock, Cannot Take Part in Any L. A. W. Events for Sixty Days—"Cracks" Get Second and Enter a Protest.

Four of Janesville's fastest racing men cannot take part in any bicycle races held under the auspices of the League of American Wheelmen for the next sixty days.

They are:
Dr. James Mills.
Alderman George M. McKee.
William Mason.
Hiram D. Murdock.

These four men had the effrontery to ride in a "fat men's bicycle race" at the Caledonian games. Some one who saw the race, wrote to the Wisconsin Consul of the L. A. W. at Milwaukee, telling him of the illegal proceeding, and the result was that Local Consul Glen J. DeLong was notified that the four riders had been suspended for two months for violation of the rules of the League, in taking part in races that were not sanctioned by the League.

It is not thought that the suspension will make any great difference with Dr. Mills practice, and Alderman McKee will probably attend tonight's council meeting just the same. Will Mason's barber shop was open today the same as before, and H. D. Murdock was at his desk in the Bower City bank at the accustomed time.

The "Cracks" Are Scared.

While the suspension will not affect the personal affairs of the riders it will prevent them from competing with Sanger and the other "cracks" at the state circuit meeting at Watertown—which fact will doubtless be a great disappointment to them.

The race that caused the trouble was won by Dr. Mills, who had a half mile handicap, by a quarter of a mile, after a close brush through the home stretch. Alderman McKee beat Mason by the same distance, while Murdock "got behind the flag" owing to an accident, and was distanced.

Evidently, some of the fast men of the state have become alarmed, and therefore entered a protest against the Janesville quartette, thus causing their suspension and preventing them from racing again this season.

The matter is now in the hands of Gideon the Great—he of the official broad-axe fame—and he'll lop their racing heads off as soon as he gets the official list of names.

"There are only about six days more of league racing," said Local Consul DeLong in conversation with a Gazette reporter today. "The suspension, therefore, prevents the four Janesville men from doing any more fast riding this season, and they cannot get any part of the loaves and fishes from this time, until they are reinstated."

A GAME FOR BLOOD IS NOW UNDER WAY

SHARON AND EDGERTON NINES MEET THIS AFTERNOON.

Series of Three Games To Be Played For $500 in Cash and Untold Glory—Both Towns Are Represented in the Audience—Make-Up of the Teams.

$500 in cash, and more glory than you can put in seven hogheads, were the prizes for which the athletes from Edgerton and Sharon fought at Athletic Park this afternoon, when the opening game of the series of three between the two nines, was played.

Both towns are "baseball crazy," and the three cornered duel was the result of the rivalry between the young men of the two places and their backers. Both feared that the other would gain an advantage if they played in either town, so Janesville—noted for fair play and hospitality—was selected as the battle ground, by mutual consent.

The populace was present when the umpire walked into the diamond this afternoon, and called, "play ball." Fathers and grandfathers, mothers and grandmothers, cheered their offspring on, while maidens fair encouraged their sweet-hearts "to win or throw a shoe." The "Rose of Sharon" was there, and so were the "Edgerton Belles."

The Money Is Up.

The games will be for blood, as before stated, and $500. The latter amount has been deposited with the sporting editor of The Gazette.

And the umpire is no "cheap man." His name was Karel—"Iky" Karel—and he is one of the best football players that Wisconsin ever produced. He was the "heavy man" of the Madison University eleven, and was a bad man in a scrimmage. This fact tended to make his decisions "go," and lessened the chances of bloodshed.

The game was called at 3 o'clock, and the teams and their positions were as follows:

Edgerton.	Position.	Sharon.
Sullivan	catcher	Hamford
Sickles	pitcher	Buscher
Johnson	1b	Holland
Morrissey	2b	Roesler
B. Warner	3b	Dowds
A. Warner	4b	Clark
Whittier	5b	Ward
Wilbur	6b	Wilcox
Cassabone	7b	Baldwin
Smith	substitute	Hermel

Two more games are to be played—one tomorrow and one Wednesday. Both teams have made excellent records this season and have been strengthened for the present contests. George Wilbur and "Tom" Morrissey, of this city, both play with the Edgerton nine.

At four o'clock three innings had been played, the score being 5 to 0 in favor of Edgerton. The feature of the game up to that hour was the double play by Jensen, Warner and Morrissey from second to first base. The audience numbers 1,200 people.

THE IRISH NINE WON YESTERDAY.

Defeated a Picked Team at the Snipe Hill Diamond.

The celebrated "Irish nine" defeated a picked nine yesterday afternoon on Snipe Hill, the score being 12 to 8. "Game" was called at 3 o'clock by Umpire Maurice O'Callaghan and it was a case of play ball from the beginning of the first to the last inning. The attendance was about five hundred. The teams lined up as follows:

Irish.	Position.	Picked Nine.
Aiken	catcher	Minnick
Cammins	pitcher	Schultz
Sullivan	1b	Lutz
T. Sullivan	2b	Hager
Tom Sullivan	3b	Cooley
Smith	4b	B. Ege
Murphy	5b	Holloran
Steed	6b	Bugs
Dixon	7b	Grogan

COST OF THE PLANT ABOUT $181,000

A SLIGHT CHANGE IN WATER WORKS FIGURES

The Expert's Report Will Show a Decrease of About $4,000 From the Statement Submitted by the Company to the Common Council—The Work Is Finished.

But a very slight difference, comparatively, will be found in the figures submitted to the common council by the Water Company, as to the cost of the water works plant; and the sum figured up as the result of the investigations of Captain Edward Ruger, and Accountant J. C. Card, who were hired by the city to look into the records of the company, and ascertain the true cost of the works.

The experts are said to be through with their work, and their report, it is said, will place the construction cost at but about $1,000 less than the sum at which the company offered to "talk business" some months ago.

The sum which the water company submitted, was about $185,000, so that the work of the experts will place the actual construction cost at about $181,000.

To that sum must be added the interest, etc., as the franchise provides, and thus the amount that the city would be compelled to pay for the plant, computed.

"No, the matter will not come before the council tonight," said Mayor Baines in reply to a Gazette man's question. "The work is finished but the reports have not yet been made out in full. The report will be a lengthy document, and it will take several days to get the matter into shape for the submission of the report."

IN POSSESSION.

"What outrageous conduct!" exclaimed Mrs. Fielding, gazing at her daughter with wide open eyes.

"Very extraordinary!" agreed Ethel. "I never heard of such a thing in my life!"

"I should hope not!" returned Mrs. Fielding. "What would your poor, dear father have said if, during his lifetime, a young man had come to propose for your hand, and, on being refused by you, had expressed his intention of staying in the house until you accepted him? I've not even read in novels" (with a fine touch of scorn) "of such a preposterous notion. Did he—did he seem firm about it, my dear?"

"Frightfully," Ethel assured her—"frightfully firm, and you should just see what a chin he has. It would make three of mine."

"What did you say?" asked Mrs. Fielding.

"What could I say? I've already told you everything. I met him, as you know, at the Marchant-Mainwaring's, and after our first introduction saw him almost every day during the following month. The night before I came home he proposed to me, and I—well, you know what I said. He then declared his intention of asking me again every six months and didn't seem to care in the least when I assured him that my answer would be just the same, however many times he asked me. Well, it is exactly six months today since—the first time I told him that I couldn't think of marrying him."

"And he expressed his intention of staying here—in this house—till you said, 'Yes?'" put in Mrs. Fielding.

Ethel nodded.

"Then," was Mrs. Fielding's decision, "we must send for the police."

"Oh, no—no—no—no!" ejaculated Ethel springing up. "Please don't do that. He's sure to go. He—he's very gentlemanly, mother, and I'm sure he'll behave himself if he does stop. Besides if he fought the policemen—and I'm sure he would fight—there'd be such a scandal!"

Yes, Mrs. Fielding agreed that the affair would give Market Norbury a month's food for little tattle if the strong arm of the law were to intervene. "I will see the young person myself!" exclaimed the elder lady majestically.

"Don't be harsh, mother," said Ethel blushing a little, "because, after all, you know he's—"

"Head over heels in love with you? Of course," rejoined Mrs. Fielding. "Of course he is. If he weren't, I should suspect him of having evil designs on the plate. Leave him to me, Ethel!"

So saying, Mrs. Fielding swept magnificently into the drawing room.

But severe as was her tone and stern her mien Dick Waterbury declined to budge. He apologized for the gross rudeness of his decision, but nevertheless refused to spike his guns and retire. During the altercation Mrs. Fielding discovered that he was a young gentleman of 25, with an ample income, and a small country seat that stood sadly in need of some one to look after it.

Twenty minutes later Mrs. Fielding returned to her daughter.

"My reasoning had no effect on him whatever," she informed Ethel; "none whatever. I suppose he must remain. He may be in a more sensible frame of mind in the morning. Don't let the servants know anything about the real state of things, but pretend that we have invited him to stay here and say his luggage will arrive in due course."

The result was: (1) That Mr. Richard Waterbury gained his point and staid at Pleasant View. (2) That only his fixed determination to win Ethel Fielding would have led him to take such a desperate step. (3) That Ethel by no means deceived the maternal judgment when she expressed herself indignantly about Dick and his resolution. (She let slip his name—Dick—several times unthinkingly.) (4) That it was the general opinion in the kitchen that the gentleman who had come so suddenly—without any luggage—was a "man in possession." (5) That he seemed to the kitchen a very well dressed man in possession. (6) That the gentleman immediately sat down and wrote a long letter, which was given to the housemaid to post. (7) That he wired to another address for some clothes. (8) That the letter was addressed to Mr. John Blunt, Friar's Court, Temple, London. (9) That, in the opinion of the kitchen, "Friar's Court" sounded like a low place for any gentleman's friends to live in.

Dick Waterbury had been with the Fieldings a week and still showed no signs of departing from his resolution. He had soon made himself at home; he had broken the ice over the dinner table during the first night of his stay. Mrs. Fielding and her daughter had opened the ball by treating him with frigid politeness; but Dick had pretended not to notice their manner, and rattled on so gaily that he effectually dispersed the cold barrier which the ladies had attempted to place between themselves and their self invited guest.

After dinner he regaled them with comic songs, anecdotes and news of the day which had failed to penetrate to the fastnesses of Market Norbury. So very agreeable did he make himself, indeed, that by bedtime he had quite won Mrs. Fielding over to his side. Ethel kept very close to her mother all the evening, he noticed, and would neither play nor sing, although she could do both very nicely. On the following day his clothes arrived, and on the third day a letter, addressed to him in a bold, masculine hand. He appeared to peruse this letter with much interest, and the one he wrote in reply he delivered to the housemaid with special instructions that it was to be posted before 6 p. m., at which hour the Market Norbury mail cart was dispatched. The housemaid told the cook that for a man in possession the newcomer wrote a very elegant hand. This letter, too, was addressed to that low place, Friar's Court, Temple.

So, by the time Dick had been located at Pleasant View seven days he was quite on friendly—nay, intimate—terms with his hostess and her daughter. Every morning when he met the latter at the breakfast table, seizing an opportunity of course when Mrs. Fielding was not present, he had asked, "Well?" and Ethel had shaken her head very determinedly and made the most of the exceedingly dimpled chin, which only represented one-third of Mr. Waterbury's. During the whole of that week Dick had never once been out. The kitchen commented severely on this point. It savored more of the "man in possession" than anything else he had done.

"He's been sent, and he's got to stop," was cook's verdict. "And mistress is making the best of a bad job by treating him as a gentleman guest. I've always understood that the poor master left her comfortable off, and I can't understand how she's lost her money. I suppose it's a mine or something. Thank goodness! I've got all my little savings wrapped up in a stocking and locked in my box!"

Seven days had gone—the seventh night had come, and still Ethel remained obdurate. But she paid, her mother noticed, considerable attention to her toilet and wore her prettiest dresses.

What was that?

Mrs. Fielding sat up, bathed in cold perspiration.

What was there it was again—scratching on the window? She listened—her heart beating a wild tattoo against her ribs. Yes—there again—somebody was trying to break in!

Only a sliding door separated Mrs. Fielding's room from her daughter's. Her teeth chattering in time with the wild throbbing of her pulses, Mrs. Fielding crept out of bed and, the sliding door being partly open, into her daughter's room. Ethel was slumbering peacefully, but a touch awoke her. There was a hurried explanation in whispers from Mrs. Fielding, and then the two women, clutching each other for comfort, stole into the outer bedroom and once more listened. The scratching had ceased, and only a shuffling sound could be heard. Then there were footsteps on the gravel walk, and then the scullery window (which was immediately beneath) was shot up with a force that denoted a careless haste on the part of the midnight intruder.

"A burglar!" exclaimed Ethel, pale to the lips, for she was only 19 and an ordinary girl with ordinary nerves. Unconsciously her lips formed the word "Dick!"

"I'll wake Mr. Waterbury," said Mrs. Fielding. She tripped swiftly out of the room, down the passage, and rapped at her guest's door.

In almost less time than it takes to relate it Dick found himself standing at his door, in dressing gown and trousers, trying to instill some calmness into the troubled breasts of Mrs. Fielding, her daughter, the cook and the housemaid—for Mrs. Fielding had aroused the servants, there being comfort in numbers, even scared ones.

"Stop here," said Dick. "I'll go down. If he doesn't use arms I can manage him!"

So saying, he moved quietly down stairs, and the women, afraid to be left by themselves, followed him at a respectful distance. A few moments and the darkness had swallowed up Dick's form. An anxious interval followed, during which nothing could be heard.

Suddenly there was a crash of crockery and a savage exclamation; then another crash; then a whole series of crashes. The cook and housemaid shrieked with fright. Mrs. Fielding grasped the banisters and trembled. Ethel trembled, too, for Dick—yes, for Dick. She loved him; she knew it now. His life was in peril.

The house was filled with sounds of the struggle. A desperate fight was going on in the passage leading to the kitchen. The women could dimly discern the forms of the two men who, breathing in short, quick gasps, were struggling furiously for the mastery. Backward and forward they swayed, with clinched teeth and straining muscles. Still the women dared not move. The couple had fought their way down to the extreme end of the passage and were close to the scullery door. Suddenly a pistol shot rang out, there was a cry, a splintering of wood and a crash of glass, and the two vanished.

A few seconds later Dick returned, his dressing gown half torn off his back. "He got away," he exclaimed. "But he didn't take anything. I'll get some things on and be off to the police station."

The women gazed at their hero with fond, admiring eyes. Once again they breathed freely. Slowly they moved up stairs—all but Ethel.

"Are you hurt?" she asked him, with infinite tenderness in her voice.

"Only a bruise or two," he replied. "I'll soon set the police on his track. But first—"

"He took her hand in his."

"I said I would not leave the house," he began.

Ethel looked swiftly up the stairs to make sure they were unobserved. Then she bent forward, quickly breathed "Yes" in his ear and fled to her room.

The police never caught the burglar, who got back to Friar's Court quite safely, after catching the earliest train from a roadside station six miles from Market Norbury.

Ethel quite meant her "Yes," and in due time was married to the "man in possession," much to the cook and housemaid's wonderment.

And Mr. John Blunt, reading the wedding announcement, chuckled softly to himself.

"It was a good idea of Dick's!" was all he said.—Tit-Bits.

The glorious results of this season's harvest of golden grain will pour a stream of sound money into the pockets of every Dakota farmer.

South Dakota has thousands of acres of choice farming and ranch land lying east of the Missouri river, and within one day's ride from Chicago or Milwaukee, which can now be bought reasonably cheap, but which before the end of another year may be advanced in price.

The stock raising industry in South Dakota is profitable and eastern capital is now being invested in cattle and sheep growing in that state.

Diversified farming, the growing of live stock, and the products of the dairy, are placing South Dakota foremost in the ranks of the successful western states.

Those desiring full information on the subject and particularly those who wish to seek a new home or purchase land are requested to correspond with W. E. Powell, General Immigration Agent, 410 Old Colony Building, Chicago, Ill., or to the local agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.

G. A. R. Encampment to St. Paul and Minneapolis—Daylight Trip.

FANS AND PARASOLS.

The Former Are Small and Beautifully Painted and Spangled.

The large, graceful fans of a year or two ago are no longer fashionable. Of all the fans put forth, the French are perhaps the prettiest. They always offer some new features of workmanship or ornamentation. Pretty conceits are not confined alone to the panels, but blossom out on the sticks as well. It seems that the smaller the fan the more rare and beautiful is the handwork lavished upon it. A certain airiness and grace distinguish the finest fans, and the colors are soft and unobtrusive. Fan chains of gold, with diamonds or pearls at intervals, are now made. They are rather heavy and add much to the effect of the fan itself.

The daintiest fans are made of lace stretched over silk muslin on mother of pearl or tortoise shell sticks and painted in the center after the manner of the French school. Glitter seems to be the special feature of many, and spangles are a conspicuous part of the decoration. Brown fans, which resemble a bulrush when closed and are made of brown gauze, painted with fascinating little figures, are special novelties.

Parasols have rather long handles of lacquered wood matching the color of the silk or of natural wood with some sort of metallic addition, like a gold band or a tiny serpent. Sometimes a small spray of flowers or fruit forms the decoration, made in the colors of life. The French are adepts at making this sort of ornamentation, which is usually much more durable than one would anticipate. There are also handles of tortoise shell studded with jewels.

A sketch is given of a costume of white mohair. The lower part of the skirt is encircled by four narrow bias bands of mauve taffeta, and the bodice is framed by two tapering panels of the same material. The close bodice has a bias, stretched back and opens in front over a chemisette of white mousseline de soie. Bias bands of mauve taffeta trim the bodice and edge the high flaring collar. The corset belt is of mauve taffeta and has two erect coques in front. The close sleeve extends over the band in medieval style, terminating in a frill of lace, and has a full puff at the top.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SIMPLE COSTUMES.

They Are No Less Expensive For Their Simplicity—Costly Linings.

This season's costumes are ostensibly simple. The popularity of white, the general acceptance of valenciennes lace, which has for many years been relegated to the domain of baby clothes, as the trimming par excellence for all sorts of costumes and accessories and the immense vogt of lawns, muslins and thin silks have contributed to the general effect of rined simplicity and inexpensiveness. Nevertheless the bills amount to just as much as ever, for there are silk linings and hand work to be counted in, and a fashionable muslin frock, little elaborate as I may seem to the ignorant eye, costs as much as a more pretentious one. There are cases where a careful examination shows some foundation for a large charge, the best of linings and workmanship being employed, but when one sees a gown of printed muslin made over a lining of common colored cambric, the edges of the flounces not even hemmed, and learns that the cost of this costume is in the neighborhood of $50 one naturally wonders as to the why and wherefore.

It is said by fashion mongers that shoes, hosiery and underwear are characterized by particular daintiness this year, but was there ever a time when a woman did not have these things as fine and delicate as her circumstances would allow? The consciousness that one's less conspicuous appurtenances are on a par with or above one's gown and hat give a feeling of comfort and satisfaction that mere outside finery can impart.

The gown of which a sketch is given has a skirt composed of two deep flounces of maize embroidered tulle, over which are panels of silk with a printed warp design. This skirt is made over a plain skirt of maize silk. The bodice of gathered embroidered tulle has a plain silk lining and is adorned with lengthwise bands of printed silk. The close sleeves are of elbow length and are adorned on the outside by three ruffles of embroidered tulle. The belt, collar and straps are of black velvet.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples and blotches. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood. Sold by all medicine dealers.

EMBROIDERIES!

BORT, BAILEY & CO.

THE NEW EMBROIDERIES! ARE HERE.

500 pieces, newest patterns, direct from St. Gall, Switzerland. Our arrangements are made direct with the agents for the mills in Switzerland and we pay no middle men or jobbers any profit on these goods. About four times each year we get a large invoice of these Embroideries. They are put up for us by the agents. We rely on them and they send us the newest productions, and, as the ladies of this city know, we show you the prettiest Embroideries at the least price. This lot comprises Cambric, Nainsook and Swiss Embroideries. You can buy them at 5c per yard; you can buy them at $1.50 per yard; you can buy them at all prices between. We are especially strong in qualities selling at 10c, 12 1-2c, 15c, 20c and 25c. There is one noticeable feature about the new Embroideries. The very OPEN EDGES that have been prevailing for the past two seasons are gradually disappearing and giving place to firmer edges. The open work may appear but it will be up higher on the muslin and the edges themselves are firm and strong. The ladies at a glance will see the advantage of this new edge in both wear and laundry work. It will wear better and will not show the frayed edges after it is laundered. The open work that appears on the muslin above the firm edges is known as EYELET WORK and is the latest.

IN CONNECTION WITH THE EMBROIDERIES WE OFFER:

Lonsdale Muslin.....	7½c	India Linens.....	10c and upwards
